

Directory of Befriending Services

Introduction

The Befriending Network was launched in November 2011 and aims to support and build capacity of organisations providing or wishing to establish, volunteer involving one to one befriending services.

The Network is made up of a number of different organisations working across Belfast and further afield who support people with many different needs, sensory impairment, disability, mental ill health and challenges that older age can bring. The Network aims to:

- Provide opportunity for organisations to network and share information
- Provide support and encouragement to organisations who wish to establish befriending schemes
- Raise awareness of Befriending and those organisations providing support
- Link with and signpost to other services that can provide support to organisations, volunteers and service users

Definitions of Befriending:

“A voluntary, mutually beneficial and purposeful relationship in which an individual gives time to support another to enable them to make changes in their life.”

Mentoring and Befriending Foundation

“Befriending offers supportive, reliable relationships through volunteer befrienders to people who would otherwise be socially isolated.”

Befriending Networks

This publication has been produced by Volunteer Now in collaboration with The Befriending Network. This directory is a tool for health professionals, organisations, families and individuals when looking for support services for vulnerable people in their community or care.

Many of these projects/schemes rely heavily on support provided by volunteers and therefore the organisations would welcome any enquiries from people interested in finding out more about ways in which they can become involved.

The Befriending Network meets quarterly and is co-ordinated by Volunteer Now through its Community Projects service supported by Belfast Health & Social Care Trust.

Volunteer Now

Project Name: Befriending Scheme

Where: Belfast

For: Socially isolated, lonely older people living in their own homes.

The Befriending Scheme aims to reduce social isolation or loneliness experienced by older people, living in their own homes who have little contact with family and friends and unable to attend day centres or other social groups due to older age and age related illnesses. With regular home visits from a volunteer befriender we hope to reduce these feelings of loneliness and low moods and increase happiness and general well-being.

Referral process: Referrals are accepted from Social Workers within the Belfast Health & Social Care Trust.

Contact needs to be made with the scheme co-ordinator before submitting a request as referrals may be closed due to capacity restraints.
