

Strategic Plan 2020 - 2025

1. Introduction

Volunteering enables people to connect with each other, their communities and the causes they care about. Volunteers are at the heart of every community – volunteering is democracy in action and builds healthy and self-sustaining communities.

Volunteer Now exists to advance citizenship and community development by promoting and supporting volunteering. It is our role to build recognition for volunteering, to provide support to organisations and to promote the wide range of opportunities available to volunteer both formally and informally.

However, while in many contexts volunteering is thriving, there are some challenges, lives are busier and some people have lost connections with their community so they find it harder to know how to get involved. Some organisations struggle to recruit and manage volunteers effectively, especially in a digital environment which is changing very quickly. Evidence underpinning the development of this strategic plan is contained in the Trends in Volunteering Research published by Volunteer Now in 2018.

This new strategic plan takes an outcome focus and sets the direction of our work in the coming five years. It sets out the outcomes we seek to achieve and the priority actions we will take to bring these about. It will be underpinned each year by a detailed operational plan.

We look forward to continuing to work with our many partners and build new relationships which will enable us to deliver our strategic plan.

2. Definition of volunteering:

The commitment of time and energy for the benefit of society and the community, the environment, or individuals outside (or in addition to) one's immediate family. It is unpaid and undertaken freely and by choice.
