

LEAVING A GIFT IN YOUR WILL TO VOLUNTEER NOW

Many people choose to leave a gift to Volunteer Now because they have volunteered themselves or have benefited from the help and support of a volunteer.

Leaving a gift in your Will helps ensure our work for volunteering continues long into the future.

Every gift is special to us. If you choose to leave a gift, you will be helping us to provide access to opportunities to volunteer as well as continuing to build recognition for volunteering and celebrating the contribution volunteers make.

There are several kinds of gifts you can leave.

A Cash Gift or 'Pecuniary Gift'

This is when you choose to leave a single, precise cash gift from your estate.

A Specific Gift

This type of gift is usually something like property or an individual valuable item, such as an antique or piece of jewellery.

A Share of Your Estate or 'Residuary Gift'

After you've provided for your loved ones and taxes have been paid, you could choose to leave a share, or the full remainder (the residue) of your estate to Volunteer Now. This means that your estate is passed onto those you care about as well as supporting Volunteer Now into the future.

You can include any of these when making a Will. If you have already made your Will, you could make a codicil. This is a document that makes a small change to a Will.

If you do decide to remember Volunteer Now in your Will, please ask that your solicitor uses our name, postal address and Registered Charity Number.
