MAY 2022

Volunteers' Week 2022

Denise Hayward, CEO, Volunteer Now

With the countdown now on to Volunteers' Week 2022, which runs from 1-7 June, Volunteer Now is calling on communities and businesses across Northern Ireland to get ready to honour local heroes by taking 'Time to Say Thanks' as part of a week-long programme of activity celebrating volunteering across the UK.

This year's theme encourages everyone to recognise the huge impact that people from all walks of life make on the lives of people and their communities when they volunteer. With around 282,000 formal volunteers carrying out work with designated organisations and 470,000 informal volunteers, volunteering plays a significant role across the region.

Volunteers have continued to give so much time, energy, commitment and skills to the communities and organisations that they have supported through another difficult year. It is fitting that Volunteers' Week 2022 will give everyone the opportunity to say 'Thank You' to everyone who has made a difference through their voluntary efforts.

Training Support Programme for the Voluntary & Community Sector

This programme, from the Office of Social Services, is intended to assist with the cost of improving the knowledge, skills and qualification profile of the social care workforce in smaller, voluntary and community sector organisations in Northern Ireland.

Priority for funding in 2022/23 will be given to whole or part qualification achievements linked to the QCF/RQF Framework. Such qualifications should contribute to improving the knowledge and skills of the social care workforce, in line with existing Department of Health standards/guidance/policy or strategy.

Any offer of funding from the Programme will be subject to budget availability. The Programme has access to a limited budget therefore the maximum amount that can be awarded to an eligible organisation is capped at £10,000 per year. Funding will only be considered for actual course fees.

Closing date for completed applications is 27 May 2022. Click here to download the Guidance Notes.

Just before the outset of the COVID pandemic,

Volunteer Now partnered with Be Collective, an innovative digital volunteer management platform. This helped us pivot, adapting to the challenges associated with the pandemic. To date, we have built an online ecosystem of nearly 2,000 partners: Causes, Charities, Not for Profits and Businesses who rely on volunteers to deliver community services and support.

Contact us to find out how you can reach more volunteers, promote volunteer opportunities and partner with other volunteer involving organisations to make an even bigger impact.

"Supportive and straight forward volunteering! Having come out of lockdown, many of us were in the predicament of having lost volunteers or volunteers not being able to commit as previously, so to have a platform that is so straight forward to use was refreshing." - Mencap

Nominations are now open for the Antrim & Newtownabbey Spirit of Volunteering Awards 2022, an initiative that recognises the hard work and dedication of the Borough's unsung hero's.

Antrim & Newtownabbey Borough Council want to recognise those who have given much of their time to volunteering, and those who are relatively new to this invaluable service who have already started to make a difference. By willingly giving their time to volunteering, people are changing the lives of others as well as their own. The theme for the awards this year focuses on precious metals and the intrinsic qualities that they possess, which are similar to those of a volunteer.

Nominations close on Tuesday 31 May 2022 at 4pm. Winners will be announced at the Antrim & Newtownabbey Spirit of Volunteering Awards 2022 celebration event on Thursday 13 October 2022 at Theatre at the Mill.

Investing in Volunteers Quality Standard

Investing in Volunteers (IiV) is the UK Quality Standard for good practice in volunteer management. IiV is comprised of 6 quality areas and the standard is very useful for organisations who want to evaluate their volunteer programmes, and look at how they involve volunteers more generally.

Volunteer Now are in the process of creating a series of six resource guides, based on the six IiV quality areas. These guides will aim to give organisations more information on each area and these will be ready very soon! Keep an eye on our website for updates.

Recognising & Celebrating Volunteers!

During 2021 a number of volunteer groups got to celebrate the biggest achievement of their lifetime. Some of the Awardees for the Queen's Award for Voluntary Service from both 2020 and 2021 took an opportunity when COVID restrictions eased to organize an event and welcome the Lord Lieutenant for their County to present their Award. Volunteer Now is delighted to congratulate the following groups who feature in the video and looks forward to hearing of other celebrations in 2022.
