ILM Level 3 Award in Volunteer Management

Attention Volunteer Leaders, Coordinators, Liaisons & Managers!

Volunteer Now and NICVA are partnering to offer a unique training opportunity and qualification that can help you hone your volunteer management skills, improve your practice, and/or get recognition for your excellence in volunteer management.

The ILM Level 3 Award in Volunteer Management is all about setting a solid foundation in the specific set of skills you need to manage volunteers. Whether you're learning from scratch or just refreshing and confirming years-long practice, the Award combines the expertise and sector knowledge of Volunteer Now and NICVA to give learners the opportunity to learn more about the theories that underpin the sector's best practice standards and how these theories apply in real-world volunteering management experiences.

It begins with a short induction session on 23 October 2025 and continues with the first learning session on 6 November 2025 (10am-1pm). The second learning session is on 13 November 2025 (10am-1pm) and then the final session is assignment support on 17 November 2025 (10.30-11.30am). All sessions are online.
